

Britain's Commandos Raid Coast Near Boulogne; Axis 'Peace Feelers' Reported

Raiders Range French Coast to Test What Types of Defense Are in Order

Rome Is Quoted
Ankara Report Says Italy Would Make Peace

(By The Associated Press)
Britain's daring Commandos stormed the Nazi-occupied French coast near Boulogne this morning, drove back the Germans guarding the coast and withdrew after two hours, British headquarters announced after the rumble of heavy cannonade was heard over the Dover Strait before daylight.

A communique said the Commandos, striking in the first combined operations raid since the spectacular attack on the German U-boat base at St. Nazaire, March 28, ranged the French coastal region testing Nazi defenses and collecting military information.

Such raids might be part of a program to find "soft spots" in the German coastal defenses as a prelude to a British invasion attempt.

The communique said British casualties were "very light" and that a naval force accompanying the Commandos damaged a German trawler which attempted to intercept the raiding party.

A second Nazi trawler was reported set afire.

The new cross-channel thrust—one of a series which is said to have spread jitters among German garrisons along the French "invasion coast"—was accompanied by heavy firing along the thick-misted Dover Strait.

Lookouts on the Kent coast said the thunder of artillery came from the direction of Boulogne and that a second period of cannon fire was heard later, lasting about 15 minutes.

British headquarters said the raid was carried out by "a small reconnaissance" force and declared that "German troops were driven back before the advance of our troops."

No British ships were damaged, the communique said.

Boulogne is one of the main German defense strongholds along the coast nearest to England.

More Peace Talk
A possible new phase of an Axis peace offensive, already launched by Japan with an unofficial "trial balloon," developed today as roundabout reports asserted that secret negotiations were under way in Italy for a separate peace.

A dispatch from Ankara, Turkey to the London News Chronicle quoted a "Rome diplomatic message" as authority for the report.

The dispatch said the recent exchange of British and Italian prisoners and other incidents had "encouraged the Italians to believe that Britain still does not hate the Italians in the manner in which the Nazis are loathed and despised."

"Italians feel that the coming of the summer months, when the Germans will be fully occupied on the Russian front, may be the moment when Italians may safely launch their peace plans because the Germans will not be in a position to check the Italians by force."

The dispatch said Premier Mussolini's prestige was now so low that if the Italian Royal family decided upon a peace offer "neither the weakened Fascist party nor the Germans could prevent the offer being made."

Executions Announced
German authorities in Paris announced the execution of more French hostages today even as France's Vichy regime was reported seeking a reprieve for 20 hostages held under death sentence at St. Nazaire where townspeople aided British commandos in their spectacular raid on that Nazi-occupied base, March 28.

The Paris announcement said the victims, described as Communists, Jews and accomplices, were shot in reprisal for alleged assassination attempts against German soldiers on April 2, 8 and 20.

Advices reaching Bern, Switzerland, said that the St. Nazaire hostages, including several prominent residents, had been sentenced to be shot but that the executions were put off as a result of Vichy's intervention.

Smouldering fires of revolt against the Nazi conquerors was reflected anew as German authorities in Paris clamped down a 11 p. m. curfew and ordered all public places closed in the occupied capital until 5 a. m. Friday.

The Germans said these measures were taken in reprisal for the assassination of a German soldier in Paris Monday night.

In the Russian campaign, Soviet dispatches reported that the Red army had broken a second hole through Finnish front lines in Karelia, northeast of Leningrad.

U.S. Does Not View Asiatic War As Sideshow, Johnson Says

Slowdowns Hit
Efforts Are Pooled

Washington, April 22 (AP)—The army and navy were disclosed today to be pooling efforts with five other government agencies in an attempt to combat industrial slowdowns in war production work.

Describing such slowdowns as "reprehensible," Senator Byrd (D-Va.) made public a letter from Daniel S. Ring, director of maritime personnel, reporting that efforts were underway to develop a "centralized method of treatment of this problem." Ring did not outline the method.

Byrd told reporters he was convinced that in many instances deliberate attempts had been made to retard production or else inefficiency of management or "Washington bureaucracy" had produced the same results. He said he would ask the Senate naval affairs committee to make a thorough investigation if immediate remedial steps were not taken.

Generals O'Ryan And Ford Resign Defense Positions

Lehman Attributes Action to 'Sniping Attacks' and Says He Does Not Blame Men

Albany, N. Y., April 22 (AP)—Governor Lehman announced today resignations of Major General John F. O'Ryan as State Civilian Defense Director, and Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford as assistant director.

O'Ryan's resignation of his $10,000 a year post on May 1, and Ford's immediate quitting of his $6,000 office, were attributed by the governor to "sniping attacks."

The governor told newspapermen, however, he would ask the newly created state war council, effective May 1, to reappoint both, who, he said, "have done an excellent job."

Without referring directly to bills in New York's legislature to limit salaries of retired army and navy officers employed in state defense measures, admittedly aimed at O'Ryan—the governor added:

"I deplore the personal, selfish, political considerations which motivated attacks on these two men. I deplore the fact that one person in particular took it upon himself maliciously to disseminate incorrect and misleading statements concerning the work of these men in the State Office of Civilian Defense and sought by every means to handicap and belittle their war efforts."

"It was my intention to urge the war council at its first meeting to reappoint them to head the new office of civilian protection."

"In view of the sniping attacks," Lehman added, "I cannot blame General O'Ryan and General Ford for refusing to sacrifice themselves further."

Bills, sponsored by Assemblyman John S. Thompson, Orleans Republican, and a retired major general, would limit retired officers' salaries to $6,000 including their Federal pension, and prohibit the war council's hiring any person holding a salaried civil position.

O'Ryan, war time commander of the famous 27th Division composed primarily of New York troops, was appointed to the defense post a year ago. In addition to his salary, he receives a $6,000 Federal retirement allowance.

County TB and Health Association Holds Annual Meeting and Elections

A large assembly of representative citizens from all parts of Ulster county met in the court room at the county court house Tuesday night for the 33rd annual meeting of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Known henceforth, the "Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association."

Judge Joseph M. Fowler, president of the organization since its inception in the spring of 1909, who presided at the meeting last night, emphasized that they were not starting a new organization but, following action taken in January, broadening the scope and activities of the old and extending its membership and the number of active directors, with the thought of making it of still more value to the people of Ulster county. In line with the action taken the name had been changed, making it an association instead of a committee and a new constitution adopted, which among other things provides for 39 directors, instead of 25 as heretofore. Of these the terms of 13 will expire each year. At the meeting Tuesday night a full board of directors was elected, divided into terms of one, two and three years.

Following is the complete board of directors as elected:

For one year—Mrs. Marion Bullard, Woodstock; the Rev. Arthur G. Carroll, Kingston; H. Van Wyck Darrow, Kingston; Dr. B. W. Gifford, Saugerties; Mrs. Mary Hayes, Kingston; Mrs. Dorothy V. LeVan Haver appeared for the prosecution.

F.D.R.'s Envoy Says U. S. Considers Defense of India Vital to All America

New Delhi, India, April 22 (AP)—Because the defense of India is of vital concern to the United States "U. S. troops already in India and more will come," Louis Johnson, head of the United States advisory mission here, told a press conference today.

(Johnson's reference to troops now in India presumably meant the air force under Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton which already had struck effective blows at the Japanese.)

"The technical skill of the United States will, to the extent to which you will accept it, be applied to the problem here," he added.

Of Sir Stafford Cripps' unsuccessful mission to seek Indian approval of Britain's plans for her future status, Johnson said only that "there is going to be a Johnson version of the story, but the time for that version has not arrived as yet."

Johnson declared that the United Nations saw the war as an entity, calling for victory everywhere, and not as a "European war with an Asiatic sideshow."

"The sending of an American technical mission," he told a press conference, "is further evidence of the realization in my own United States and in the United Nations that this is one war—worldwide war and not a European war with an Asiatic sideshow."

"I want to be put on record that it is not the purpose—I should say it is not the strategic purpose—of the Allied nations to accept defeat on one front so as to assure victory on another."

"Our coming to India is not a matter that is based entirely on the war situation," Johnson declared. "America has not been disinterested in India—may I say disinterested in this part of the world. We have had a dependency in Asia—the Philippines."

"We have had long and happy cultural relations with the people of India and the people of Asia."

"The President of the United States said recently that we are going to put far greater resources (Continued on Page 10)

Gas Might Be Cut To 5 Gallons Per Week to Everyone

Washington, April 22 (AP)—Informed government officials said today a plan for rationing gasoline on the eastern seaboard would be announced soon, to become effective some time in May and allowing each motorist "around five gallons a week."

Details of the plan were withheld, but an O.P.A. spokesman predicted the cut in gasoline supplies would be "drastic."

The permitted amount for each motorist would be purchasable on presentation of some type of ration card but the ration books to be issued under the sugar distribution plan would not be used, it was understood.

A reduction of one-third in deliveries of gasoline to service stations was ordered only last week because of increasing shortage of tankers.

Affected by the rationing plan will be the 17 eastern seaboard states and the District of Columbia now included in the gasoline "curtailment area" extending from Maine to Florida.

Three separate rationing plans have been developed by the O.P.A. after weeks of study, officials said, with the ultimate choice depending upon the supply picture.

War Output Enters New Channels

U. S. Seizure of Axis Patents Is Hailed on Capitol Hill as Fine Thing Will Help All

United Nations Will Benefit by Seizure of Patents

Washington, April 22 (AP)—America's war production effort burst through into new channels today under the impetus of a presidential order seizing all enemy-owned or controlled patents—including German patents on the manufacture of synthetic rubber and fuels.

President Roosevelt announced the seizure order yesterday at a press conference sandwiched in between a series of war councils with representatives of the United Nations.

The announcement, coming in the midst of a congressional investigation of international patent pools, was hailed on Capitol Hill by members of the investigating committee who said they might propose legislation to give the government greater control over patents.

"A very salutary and necessary step," said Senator Pepper (D., Fla.), a member of the committee.

Mr. Roosevelt, invoking his wartime emergency powers, said legal and technical obstacles would be brushed aside and the several thousand patents controlled by Axis nations would be explored and developed for whatever use they may be to America at war.

The first consideration, he declared, was to win.

And when the war is over, he went on, the patents will not be permitted to revert to alien hands, as they did after the first world war.

Leo Crowley, alien property custodian, disclosed that the President's orders already were being carried out—that researchers even now were studying once-forbidden processes for making artificial rubber, fuels, foods and fabrics as well as all kinds of drugs, biologicals, electrical equipment and Diesel engines.

Among these, he said, were rubber and gasoline patents held by I. G. Farbenindustrie, German dye trust.

The seized patents, including those technically held in pools by Americans, will be made available to all the United Nations, Mr. Roosevelt said.

It was his idea, the President said, that we should take everything needed to win the war.

Law Will Barred Kansas City's Limits

Kansas City, April 22 (AP)—The long nose of the law will barricade the city limits this week-end.

Pressing their campaign to curb drunken driving, police will halt every city-bound motorist Friday and Saturday nights, and the officers are ordered to give each car and driver a thorough sniffing for traces of liquor.

If, said Henry W. Johnson, police safety director, heavily alcoholic fumes are detected, the driver will wind up in jail facing a charge of driving while intoxicated.

In admonishing would be imbibers at county establishments, where business thrives after closing hours for city bars, the director made this point clear.

None of the police on duty will have head colds to impair their smelling.

No Food for Drunks

Los Angeles, April 22 (AP)—Angelenos arrested for drunkenness may be released in five hours, after they've sobered up, because of rising food prices.

"I can't see why the city should feed approximately 6,000 drunks a month for four or five days and even furnish them with clean laundry," expostulated Police Commissioner Al Cohn.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 22 (AP)—The position of the Treasury April 20: Receipts $74,215,726.31. Expenditures $198,444,644.15. Net balance $3,473,246,183.00. Working balance included $2,712,277,519.41. Customs receipts for month $20,724,718.01. Receipts fiscal year (July 1) $9,575,927,556.48. Expenditures fiscal year $22,784,283,245.39. Excess of expenditures $13,208,355,288.91. Total debt $70,260,316,765.70. Increase over previous day $14,689,876.35. Gold assets $22,678,856,571.12.

Kembles' Case Adjourned

A further adjournment until April 30 was taken last evening before Justice of the Peace Roger H. Loughran of the town of Hurley in the abortion action pending against Urban T. Kemble and his wife, Myrtle Kemble, who were arrested last Friday. Both defendants were continued on bail until the hearing on Thursday, April 30. District Attorney N. LeVan Haver appeared for the prosecution.

Another Blackout For This Region Will Be Surprise

Unannounced Test Slated for Week of April 26 and All Are Asked to Be on Alert

Ulster county along with several adjacent counties will experience another test blackout during the week of April 26. The day, time and hour will not be announced in advance but all households are urged to keep on the alert and co-operate with the air raid authorities.

Announcement of the test blackout was made today by Ulster County Defense Chairman Albert Cashdollar after he had received notice of the test.

In the area blackout which will be heralded by the sounding of all air raid warning signals throughout the city and county, will be Ulster, Sullivan, Orange and Rockland counties. A blackout has also been announced for the same week in the Albany area but the Albany blackout will probably be held on some other day during the week. This is done so that State Defense workers may observe the results of the blackouts.

Future blackouts may last for a considerable period of time and by fitting up a room at home where lights are shielded from shining outside, normal life may be carried on without the discomfort of remaining in total darkness during the time of the blackout.

In the preparation of such a "blackout" room Mr. Cashdollar urges that the room be equipped and then given a test to ascertain whether any light is visible from the outside. Any blackout room must be so shielded that no light is visible outside the building. It should be understood that in some instances where lights are apparently not visible when streets are lighted, that the glow of lights will seep through when the city is in

Nazis Face Food Trouble

U. S. Department of Agriculture Tells Problems Before Germans, Occupied Countries in Acquiring Food

Washington, April 22 (AP)—The agricultural department, in a summary of recent cables on European food developments, told today of increasing difficulties confronting Germany and Nazi-occupied countries in producing and supplying their people with food and fiber crops.

Unoccupied France was said to be facing six breadless weeks because of diversion of grain by the black markets, illegal use of wheat for feeding livestock and poultry, counterfeit ration cards, and failure of farmers to deliver the quantities expected.

The department said reports coming out of Germany indicated that stringent measures were being taken against violators of food rationing regulations.

Recent restrictions upon the milling of wheat and rye indicate, the department said, that German grain stocks have declined to a level where economies must be effected in order to insure against a poor crop at home this year and the possibility of supplies from southeastern Europe falling below expectations.

Agricultural production in Denmark, which in 1941 was less than half of normal, was said to be seriously threatened this year by the late spring, shortages of fertilizers, seed and labor.

The department said Germany hoped to secure the production of sufficient food in occupied Ukrainian Russia to meet the needs of Nazi occupation forces and for the bare maintenance of the local population.

"Reports indicate," the department said, "that spring sowing in the Ukraine is no easy task owing to the shortage of machinery and horses taken or destroyed by the Russians."

Boypower Census Begins

Washington, April 22 (AP)—A nation-wide census of high school and college students available for farm work during vacations was started today under orders of the new War Manpower Commission headed by Paul V. McNutt.

European Radios Minimize Raids On Japan, Say Fliers Were Captured

London, April 22 (AP)—European radio stations, including that at Bern in neutral Switzerland, carried reports today that several United States fliers who raided Japan last week-end sought afterward to reach bases in Free China but were forced to make emergency landings and fell into Japanese hands.

The Bern radio, crediting the report to a Japanese spokesman in Tokyo, said only that the fliers were captured after making emergency landings, but did not say where. A Vichy news agency broadcast quoted by Reuters, attributing the account to a Japanese army spokesman in Shanghai, said the U. S. planes came down in Japanese-occupied China, and that the fliers would be taken to Shanghai to meet newspaper correspondents.

It is believed here that Free China bases nearest Tokyo probably are at Lishui in southeast Chekiang Province, some 1,350 miles from the Japanese capital. The Japanese air force has raided Lishui heavily several times recently.

The Berlin radio in a report by D.N.B. from Tokyo quoted Lieut. Col. Kunio Akiyama, Japanese military spokesman, as declaring Saturday's air raids caused very little damage.

Only some 13 planes were sighted, he stated, and most of the bombs dropped were incendiaries.

Not more than a dozen houses were destroyed in Tokyo, he said. (Other places raided were Kobe, Yokohama and Nagoya.)

Forces Retreat

British and Chinese Beat Retreat in Burmese Region

By ROGER D. GREENE (Associated Press War Editor)

Allied sky fighters defending the approaches to Australia were credited officially today with scoring a 4-0 victory over Japanese "zero" planes in a battle over Port Moresby, New Guinea, while U. S. Navy torpedo boats were reported to have seriously damaged a Japanese light cruiser in the Philippines.

Heavy new Japanese attacks on Panay Island, in the central Philippines, compelled American-Filipino troops to fall back again after their fierce resistance had checked the invaders at Lambunao, the War Department reported.

The War Department said that other Japanese columns were attacking two points in Antique Province, on the west coast of Panay, and that enemy aerial reconnaissance indicated the invaders were planning to attack Negros Island, between Panay and Cebu.

The communique said enemy assaults on American-defended forts in Manila Bay were limited yesterday to a few dive-bomber raids on Fort Hughes and Fort Drum.

A bulletin from General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in Australia said United Nations airmen shot down four Japanese planes without loss to themselves at Port Moresby, and that other Allied fliers set numerous fires among wharves and buildings in an attack on Rabaul, New Britain.

Lieut.-Gen. George H. Brett, U. S. A., chief of the combined air forces in the Southwest Pacific, praised the aerial defenders for "doing a hell of a fine job" in hammering potential Japanese invasion bases north of Australia, and he declared:

"Everything is on the up and up in developing Australia as a base for long-range operations."

On the critical Burma war front, British headquarters announced that out-numbered British and Chinese troops again were forced to retreat under heavy pressure by Japanese invasion columns driving into the earth-scorched Yenangyaung oil fields in western Burma.

An "enclave" communique said the Allies completed a fighting withdrawal across the Pinchaung river "but not without losses of personnel and equipment."

The Pinchaung flows into the Irrawaddy river near the town of Yenangyaung, which Chinese reinforcements had recaptured only a few days ago.

The communique said fighting continued "in and around Yenangyaung," implying that the Japanese had swept back into the town after being driven three miles to the south by counter-attacking Chinese troops.

The latest reversal dampened hopes that the British-Chinese Allies might hold the invaders in a "second Bataan," and indicated that the Japanese were now pouring heavy reinforcements into the campaign before the arrival of the monsoon rains.

Chinese reports last week said the Japanese had landed five and one-half fresh divisions—perhaps 80,000 troops—at Rangoon, 200 miles below the Yenangyaung battle sector.

On the Allied left flank, other Japanese columns thrusting toward Mandalay were reported to be throwing tanks and guns into a furious assault against Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese forces at Pinyinana, 60 miles north of Toungoo and about midway between Rangoon and Mandalay.

Bulkeley Active Again

In the Philippines, a U. S. navy communique reported that two of Lieut. John D. Bulkeley's sharp-stinging mosquito boats, hiding in secret, jungle-screened bases among the 7,000 islands of the Philippine archipelago, boldly attacked a Japanese cruiser protected by four destroyers in a recent night raid of Cebu island.

The communique said the tiny PT-41's darted in against strong Japanese fire and left the cruiser sinking.

The navy's report somewhat offset an army communique disclosing that nearly 3,000 National Guardsmen from nine states were among the 37,000 American-Filipino defenders killed, wounded or taken prisoner in the historic battle of Bataan. Only 107 guardsmen were evacuated to Corregidor island when Bataan fell, April 9.

Domel, the Japanese news agency, reported that 62,600 prisoners had been captured so far in the Philippine campaign, including 10,

KRUMVILLE

Krumville, April 21—Mr. and Mrs. James Reiman and their sister-in-law of Brooklyn spent the week-end at their summer cottage here.

Clarence Hansen last week visited his two brothers, Orville and Irving at Greenport, L. I., last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Davis of Hurley last Sunday visited at the home of Mrs. Davis' sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Merriew.

Mr. and Mrs. John McGowan and their daughter, Joan of Brooklyn, spent the week-end at their summer cottage here.

Mrs. Brundage of Lake Katrine has been spending several days visiting at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Lortz.

Roland Green of Kingston was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Christensen last Friday.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid Society will meet Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Conrad Christensen. All members are urged to be present and all ladies in the community are invited to attend.

Mrs. Stephen Erickson of Brooklyn spent the week-end at the home of her father, Charles Nygaard.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, who have been spending the winter months here have returned to their home here for the summer.

Last Friday evening the Rev. and Mrs. William H. Barringer and Prof. Ralph Elmhurst spent the evening at the home of Jacob Barley and his daughter, Miss Mildred, at Lyonsville.

Many from here expect to attend the meeting and see the pictures to be shown of the Philippines next Tuesday evening at Lyonsville Reformed Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hansen and their daughter, Caren of Greenport, L. I., are spending some time visiting at the home of Mr. Hansen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hansen.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Hall of Chatham last week spent several days visiting Mr. Hall's sister and brother-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. William H. Barringer at the parsonage.

Church school will meet at 10 o'clock next Sunday morning. Morning divine worship service will be held at 11 o'clock, when the pastor will bring the message. Subject of sermon will be "Patience and Confidence."

Cyclist's Turn to Laugh

Nyack, N. Y. (AP)—It's Jimmy Collins' turn to laugh now. He's been riding bicycles since 1907 and never did buy a car even though he was kidded about it at every turn. He started out riding a bike as a kid, delivering fish for his dad's market. For the last 23 years he has been delivering mail for Uncle Sam. Jimmy figures he has covered more than 361,000 miles on his bicycle.

Can You Win Freedom From Constipation?

Too many folks go on suffering from constipation when there's no need in the world for them to do so! Why? Simply because one of the commonest causes of constipation is lack of "bulk food" in the diet. In such cases, cathartics and purges can give only temporary relief!

If this is your trouble, you can expect lasting relief from constipation—simply by eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN daily. This crisp, delicious cereal supplies the "bulk" you may need—gets at the cause of your trouble and corrects it. Start eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN today and drink plenty of water. See what a wonderful difference it makes when you correct the cause instead of trying to "remedy" the result! ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped by this simple treatment, it's wise to see a doctor.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Inor Offense

South Bend, Ind.—The Rev. Alton Z. Riley, 31, negro minister, pleaded guilty of assault and battery in St. Joseph circuit court.

But Judge Dan Pyle withdrew the plea and turned the pastor loose after hearing evidence that all he had done was kiss a Mishawaka woman who had bought some of the apples he was peddling house to house.

"It seems that this man is guilty of nothing but indiscretion," the judge remarked, "and the statutes make no provision for punishment of that offense."

Down to Earth

Miami—The Florida East Coast Railroad will add a new Jacksonville-to-Miami train on May 3, but its name won't be as high-sounding as the road's crack streamliners—the Tamihi Champion, Havana Special and Daylight Express.

Officials came up with a name that expressed the spirit of the times. It's to be simply "The Tiresaver."

And That's Final

Seattle—One harassed couple, weary of particular landlords in this war boom city, ran this ad: "Offering $10 to anyone finding an apartment suitable for two adults and three children. We won't shoot our children in order to get into your apartment."

Well, How Do You Do

Phoenix, Ariz.—Jess W. Spain didn't find many sympathetic police ears when he gave details of his $171 robbery.

"I woke up and found a man sitting on my bed," related Spain. "What did you do then," queried the police?

"Oh," said Spain, "we talked a little while, then I turned over and went to sleep. In the morning I found my billfold gone."

Paste One On Me

San Diego, Calif.—Don Holmes passed out war stamps in place of cigars when his son was born—thereby starting a movement.

Other fathers Holmes met at the hospital adopted the idea, and he now is trying to enlist all American fathers in his scheme.

"There must be a couple of million births every year. Think what that would mean if every new parent started handing out stamps," he said.

Mismates

Salt Lake City—Mrs. Dorothy S. Merrill Brothers would like to make a deal with the person who picked up her purse containing 16 unmatched stockings that she had mended.

"The way it is now," she told police, "both of us have 16 unmatched and unwearable silk stockings."

LYONSVILLE

Lyonsville, April 22—Mrs. Tracy Barley of Stone Ridge spent Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Oakley and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roosa and family spent the week-end with her brother at Ossining.

Mr. and Mrs. James Davis spent Saturday with relatives at Ellenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Oakley and son, Kenneth C., and mother, Mrs. May Oakley, spent Saturday in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. George Green and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Smith and Kenneth Smith spent the week-end at their home in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Oakley and son, Kenneth, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Davis and family.

Chester Alexander is busy helping William Davies.

BLOOMINGTON

Bloomington, April 21—Bloomington Reformed Church, the Rev. W. K. Haysom, pastor, Sunday church services 9:45 a. m. and 8 p. m. Church school at 11 a. m. Christian Endeavor at 7 o'clock. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The meeting of the Classis of Ulster was held in the Mt. Tremper Reformed Church, Tuesday. Those who attended from this church were the Rev. W. K. Haysom and John Bordenstein and Floyd Evory as delegate.

The Red Cross sewing in the church parlors Wednesday. Women are requested to bring their sewing tools and lunches.

Mrs. W. K. Haysom is ill at her home but is improving at this time.

The newly elected Christian Endeavor officers were installed at the morning church service. Fletcher Ingalls, president of the county union and Miss Grace Fairbrother, secretary of the county union, were the acting installation officers who only installed Margaret Randegger as president, Raymond LeFever, vice president; Georgia Cross, secretary, and Rose LeFever, treasurer for the ensuing year. The background for the installation service was the new altar erected and given by the Christian Endeavor members.

Ed LeFever, M. Don, John Bordenstein and Mr. Berry are giving the cemetery fence a coat of paint.

On Wednesday afternoon of last week the Ladies' Aid met in the church parlors and packed boxes of homemade cookies to be sent to the boys who have been affiliated with this church and who are now in service. Those receiving boxes were: Ernest Sabo of Fort Lewis, Wash., Leslie Evory of Holabird Motor Base, Maryland; Robert Schneider of Pine Camp; Herbert Landrock of Fort Bragg, N. C.; Francis Mowle of Fort Bragg, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Sterbend, who have purchased the Valatis property are having a well driven. Stoutenburg well drillers are doing the work.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Cross spent Sunday with relatives in Germantown.

Floyd Evory was ill at his home for a few days last week.

Kenneth Randegger, who has been at Palm Beach, Fla., all winter, returned to his home here Saturday.

Miss Margaret Amatrano and niece, Anna Amatrano, of the Bronx, spent the week-end at their summer home.

Mrs. Frank McElrath and sons, Bruce and Thomas, spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Diedorf of Kings Park, recently.

Mrs. John Tease, who was ill a few days last week, is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Saner of Whitestone, L. I., are at their summer home on the Greenkill road.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Conno of Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Niebergall and Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Niebergall of Bloomfield, N. J., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Hotelling Sunday.

Cites Support of Northeast Markets

$4,250,000.00 Has Been Spent on Food

Ithaca, N. Y., April 22—During the month of February, the Agricultural Marketing Administration supported farm markets in the 12 northeastern states to the extent of $4,250,000, says Robert A. Hanson, state supervisor at Albany.

Direct distribution, food stamps, and school-lunch programs, but not lend-lease and other purchases, are included in that total, he adds.

The stamp plan, providing users with $2,700,000 worth of food, accounted for the principal distribution, he pointed out. Fourteen per cent of each dollar was spent for eggs, 12 per cent for fruits, 23 per cent for vegetables, 23 per cent for pork, and 12 per cent for butter.

The announcement states that purchases were made by 825,000 persons in the northeast, who, during February, bought an average of $3.26 worth of farm products with blue stamps.

"In those areas of the northeast not covered by the stamp plan, an additional 550,000 persons received 55,000,000 pounds of farm products bought by the A. M. A. in its market activities."

"The school-lunch program reached a peak in February, reaching one million children in 12,000 northeastern schools. More than 8,500,000 pounds of farm products were thus added to the children's diets.

"In New York state, 324,194 youngsters in 4,016 schools participated in the school-lunch program."

Evans Gives Some Brighter Aspects In French Analysis

Pétain's Hold on French Fleet, Attitude of Nation Aids to Allies

(In analyzing the news from France, John Evans, chief of the foreign service of The Associated Press and Wide World, notes some bright spots beneath the generally gloomy picture. He explains them here.)

By JOHN EVANS

New York, April 22 (Wide World)—Pierre Laval, cursed by millions, may have sold himself down the river and done France and the United Nations a good turn by taking over the Vichy French government as an Axis-backed "collaborationist."

When Laval again elbowed himself into the Vichy regime as old Marshal Pétain's "chief of government" last week, the governments fighting Germany, Italy and Japan took the news as very bad news. On the surface it seems so. Analyzed, there are bright spots.

Two points stand out: Pétain retained direct control of the French fleet and all armed forces by making Admiral François Darlan commander-in-chief, reporting directly to him. Laval, as premier, normally could control the French forces.

Laval, marked himself as such a whole-hearted collaborationist, willing and anxious to work with Germany, that the great part of the French certainly are in mental revolt against him, pending the time when they can shoulder arms and march with rescuing invaders against the Germans.

Much as one may condemn Pétain's Vichy government for various reasons, it is a fact that the United States State Department felt it worthwhile to work with Vichy and to strengthen the Marshal's hand whenever Hitler put on pressure for more cooperation.

So far as is known: It is a fact that the French fleet, still strong enough to turn the tide against the British in the Mediterranean, has not been turned over to the Germans. It may go to Hitler later but at least it has been kept idle for two years.

It is a fact that the Germans have not crossed into French North Africa with reinforcements for the Libyan campaign or to bottle up the Gibraltar end of the sea against British convoys.

Pétain, in effect, has fought a delaying action against German influence.

Against those facts, it is true that Pétain has enabled or allowed the Germans to develop French factories into an auxiliary arsenal.

Has Upset French Faith

Pétain has upset French faith in some of her old ideals, such as the freedom cry of "liberty, equality, fraternity." He has abolished the old democratic form of government and replaced it with a hybrid lacking the dynamic force of dictatorship or the generous liberalism of democracy.

Pétain sought by giving government a new face to make France forget the past and shed her political weaknesses. Only his ardent supporters think he has succeeded.

Taking Laval apart to see what makes him what he is would be interesting.

He always has been self-centered, ambitious and somewhat unscrupulous politically, as indeed were and are many politicians who strut as statesmen. Today he certainly ranks among the ten most hated men of his time.

The best face to put on his course would be to say that he is certain Germany will win and he wishes Laval and France to be on the bandwagon.

The worst complexion to put on Laval would be to say that he is plain traitor, seeking to deliver France to Hitler as a means for Hitler to win the war by smashing the British fleet, and aiding the Germans to hold Europe against any invading forces of the United Nations landing in France as the easiest road to Berlin.

Probably the truth is somewhere in between.

Possibly Laval sees only his own future. He may calculate that if Germany wins he would ride high, wide and handsome and he could help France.

He may feel sure, also, that if Germany is beaten, France would not suffer greatly because the Free French and the world's disposition would see to it that there still would be a France much like the old one of thrifty industry, comfortable living, good food and fine wines. Laval himself would be out, but he might explain that all along he was playing a game, bolder than Pétain's but the same, to keep Hitler from taking possession of everything or destroying it.

Some people think Pétain and Laval, jointly or separately, knowingly or otherwise, are trying to make France authoritarian. Whether they are seems of little moment, because in the few years of this war it would take better men than they are to do much with hungry unhappiness.

By and large, the French doubtless worry more about food and their prisoners in Germany than they do about government. They were disgusted with the old one that brought defeat and they show little enthusiasm for the new one.

Being French, it is a reasonable certainty they neither love nor trust the Germans with whom they've had three wars.

Finally, it seems probable that from Pétain down, with few exceptions, the French are thrilled by the news that again "the Yanks are coming."

Regardless of whether they like us, the French know the United States saved their bacon in the last war and they have a shrewd idea that is what will happen again.

As for Pierre Laval, he was French premier under Pétain before and Pétain threw him out.

If Pétain doesn't kick him out again, perhaps someone else will, and perhaps that someone else will be an army.

HIGHLAND

Lodge Group Meets

Highland, April 21—Mrs. Jennie Reddy and Mrs. Minnie Peller were initiated at the meeting of Ida McKinley Council, Daughters of America, Wednesday evening in Odd Fellows' Hall. Mrs. Hazel Palmer, counselor, presided, owing to the illness of Mrs. Gwendolyn Callahan, initiatory counselor. Mrs. Olive McNutt of New Paltz was elected to membership and will be initiated May 20. All officers were present except junior past councilor filled by Mrs. Anna Maynard and recording secretary with Mrs. Carrie Jordan substituting. Final plans were made for the public card party to be held Wednesday, May 6, following an early meeting at 7:30 o'clock with Councilor Mrs. Hazel Palmer presiding. Sixteen officers and members will attend the banquet Friday evening at the Reformed Church, Ellenville, and the meeting following in Masonic Temple when District Deputy Marie Odell will preside and State Councilor Beatrice Simmons of Binghamton will be honored. Appreciation for sympathy was received from Mrs. Teresa Swibold, member of the state law committee. An invitation to attend a dinner dance Saturday, June 13, at Hotel Victoria, New York, for the benefit of the state councilor's project was accepted. At the roll call of blue and red sides, each had 40 points. Lemon pie and coffee was served by Mrs. Mabel Lent, chairman, and committee, A. W. Lent, Mrs. Sarah LeRoy, Mrs. Daisy Mackey, Mr. and Mrs. Lester, Mrs. Lottie Mackey, and Mrs. Lottie Mackey and Mrs. Carrie Martin. The trip to Ellenville Friday evening will be made by private cars. Members were requested to bring birthday cards for the state councilor as she would be given a shower at the meeting. Those in charge of the card party for the next meeting are: Mrs. Cecile Petersen, Mrs. Mamie Wood, Mrs. Louise Sheeley, Mrs.

Hazel Palmer, Mrs. Carrie Atkins, Mrs. Irene Kurtz.

Sisterhood Meets

Highland, April 21—During the business meeting of Chapter A. P. E. O. Sisterhood, Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William H. Maynard the initiation of Mrs. Arthur Clarke took place. The president, Mrs. Clarence Rathgeb, conducted the business and led in the ceremonies. The program had the last paper on the rivers of the world when Miss Emily Lent had "The Jordan," as her subject. Mrs. Irving Rathgeb sang "Deep River" and "Roll Jordan Roll" with the members joining in the chorus. The meeting closed with singing the first and fourth verses of the "Star Spangled Banner." Tea was served by Mrs. Maynard and her assistant, Mrs. Harold Lent. Those present were: Mrs. Rathgeb, Mrs. Arthur Clarke, Mrs. Howard Barton, Miss Lula Clarke, Mrs. Robert Cole, Mrs. Wilbur Haviland, Mrs. Harry Colyer, Miss Laura Harcourt, Mrs. LeGrand Haviland, Jr., Mrs. Philip Schantz, Mrs. Rose Seaman, Mrs. D. H. Starr, Mrs. Irving Rathgeb, Mrs. John F. Wadlin, Mrs. Gordon Wilcox, Mrs. Nathan Williams, Mrs. Franklin Welker, Miss Emily Lent, Mrs. DeWitt DuBois and the hostess.

ANESTHETICS FOR CHINA

The Chinese are asking for anesthetics for their army hospitals. This is a cause which will appeal to everyone who has ever suffered severe pain or undergone an operation, to everyone who has had to have set, delicately and expertly, the broken small bones in wrist or ankle; or have had teeth extracted.

What illness and surgery must have been before anesthetics is difficult for an American to imagine. The patient who has dreaded for weeks the day of the operation, who is given a kindly sedative, moved to the operating room asleep, and wakes gently in his bed hours later, finding to his intense surprise that it is all over—that patient, now recovered, is going to reach for his fountain pen this instant to make a check for United China Relief.

Pain and the necessary handling which brings more pain are inevitable concomitants of war. There are no words to express the comfort given by the blessed anesthetic which lets one sleep through surgery, and the heavenly sedative that lets one drowse through the worst of the hours of healing. The new sedatives, besides, are not habit-forming. Modern medicine has, to a great extent, eliminated that danger.

Russian Relief could use a check, too. The Red Cross will distribute benefits where most needed. Designate and apportion as you like. But when you think of men suffering for your freedom and way of life, it will help you, too, to know you are helping them.

RUBBERLESS JARS

The fruit jar made wholly of glass, needing neither metal nor rubber to seal it, but only a little paraffin, has been invented, patented and will soon come on the market. For housewives, it can hardly come too soon. The strawberry jam season, which opens summer canning, is almost upon them.

This new jar is described as having an inner shoulder at the top on which a glass cover fits loosely. Paraffin is poured through a small perforated cone in the center of the lid. It rises about the edges, solidifies and seals the jar tight. The housewife twirls the cover around over the hot fruit, thus getting the air bubbles out. (Remember how Grandma stuck a silver spoon in the jar before sealing? Same idea.) Then as the paraffin hardens a vacuum is created and the normal pressure of the air—about fifteen pounds per square inch—holds the cover tight. The raw material of glass, says the inventor, Glenn A. Toaz, is roughly one-third of the earth's surface, and the more oil we process, the more paraffin we have to use up. So priorities present no difficulty.

Mr. Toaz has designed a valve used by the gasoline engines of most automobiles, and has other inventions to his credit, but it is safe to say that if the fruit jar works as well as he thinks it will, it is the one from which he may hope for lasting fame.

AFTER TEA, WHAT?

Tea next on the ration list? So we are told. This will not hit us as hard as it would the British, with whom afternoon tea is something that life could not get along without. Even in the trenches of World War I, afternoon tea was regularly provided. The Russians, too, who used to keep samovars constantly on the boil, for whoever may drop in, would find life not the same without tea.

Though we have plenty of tea-drinkers, by and large our beverage is coffee. Unfortunately coffee comes from Brazil. Suppose its sale were restricted. We should then have to cultivate a taste for a nice stimulating cup of hot water.

GAS MAGIC

An Argentinian has an invention by which he thinks 20 per cent of the gas used in ordinary motor cars may be saved. It utilizes exhaust gases to reduce fuel consumption.

This is all right if Hitler doesn't get it. The United Nations are not too keen at the present moment on such inventions coming out of Argentina.

It will not matter very much who has it, however, if it is not used to better advantage than the smoke-consuming devices which might make our cities beautiful and healthful, but are not used enough to save much coal or prevent much dirt.

BICYCLE SAFETY CLUBS

In the days before automobiles the great traffic hazard was presented by bicycle speeders on the sidewalks.

Those days are coming back. To meet them, Spartanburg, S. C., is organizing bicycle safety clubs to educate the public against this old-new menace to safety. Meanwhile it begins to look as if home, with all its perils, is the safest place after all.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

FIVE GROUPS OF ASTHMATICS

One of the forward steps in medicine in recent years is the great emphasis now placed in searching for the cause of symptoms. In my student days treatment to give relief was stressed as also was the pathology—actual damage done to the structures of the body by disease. Today the medical student and the graduate physician want to know why the symptoms occur and they search diligently for the cause.

It was this determination to find the cause of diabetes that spurred those young physicians Banting and Best, Toronto, to continue their investigations, despite many and serious obstacles, until their goal was attained so that now diabetes does not have to die.

Similarly Drs. Minot and Murphy, Boston, by the discovery that liver would increase the number and richness of red blood cells have been able to prevent death in that formerly incurable disease, pernicious anemia.

When the cause of diabetes and of pernicious anemia was found, the proper treatment could be given.

However, when the cause of asthma was sought, it was found that asthma was not due to a single cause, as with diabetes and pernicious anemia. In fact, asthma is considered a group of symptoms—shortness of breath, lack of oxygen in the blood, closing of little branches of the bronchial tubes—and has a number of causes.

A few years ago the causes of asthmatic symptoms were believed to be some defect of nose and throat and allergy or sensitiveness to various substances; proteins in food and air being outstanding examples.

In a classification of asthma in Medical Record, Dr. Charles A. Spivacke and Dr. Herbert L. Franklin, New York city, give five general groups.

Allergic asthma which is asthma caused solely by sensitiveness to proteins.

Asthmatic bronchitis, bacterial asthma, due to protein bacteria (organisms).

Allergic asthma with asthmatic bronchitis which is sensitiveness to proteins complicated by infection of the bronchial tubes (bronchitis).

Pollen asthma which is really hay fever with asthmatic symptoms.

Occupational asthma which is commonly found among furriers, dyers, bakers, hostlers or stablemen, beauticians, druggists, and workers in fish and poultry markets, and in the tobacco industry.

Aside from these five types there is the asthma type due to sensitiveness to drugs such as quinine, aspirin, insulin and ipecac. The outline of the above causes may help some to locate the cause of their asthma.

CONTAINERS DOING DOUBLE DUTY

Getting more service out of containers of all types is becoming common-place among cooperatives. They are finding real difficulty in obtaining burlap bags and other packages ordinarily used, they report to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Cooperative G. L. F. Eastern States Cooperatives, and other farm supply co-ops are educating their patrons on the care and handling of bags, and revising their grading of returned bags so that more will fall in the top-price class, says the Farm Credit Administration. Good bags often make six or more round trips from feed, fertilizer, or seed mill to farm.

Cooperative box factories are pushing rapidly toward full wartime production. Wood is not on the critical list, and in many cases can be used for packaging to release scarcer materials. At least one form supply cooperative is planning the re-use of its cardboard containers. Instead of being flamed or stapled, these boxes may be taped so that they can be folded flat and returned for another shipment.

Hop a Success

The annual Junior Class Hop was held in the Myron J. Michael School Gym Friday evening, April 17.

The gym was artistically decorated on the theme of the Little Red School House.

Louise Roese and his Wolverines played for dancing.

Much credit is due the K. H. S. stage crew. The members, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. S. stage crew. The members, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. S. stage crew.

The members of committees on decorations and the tickets also helped. Ticket committee: Maureen Troy, Marie McAndrew, Leo Boice, Thatcher Wood, Leonard Rabin and Jack Pope. Decorations committee: Donald Dumm, Teddy Kenny, John Ceracero, John MacConnell and Buddy Oulton.

The chaperones for this dance were: Mr. and Mrs. Loryne Connick, Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Kenny, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Meagher, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schmid, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rowland and Miss Kirshenblum.

At this time the members of the Junior Class would like to thank all those who attended the dance and made it the success that it was.

Assemblies

On Tuesday, April 14, special assemblies were held.

In "B" assembly Captain Miller and Mr. Rigby spoke on behalf of the Board of Civilian Defense, asking for boys to act as messengers and couriers during air raids so as to insure complete and thorough service.

In "A" assemblies Sergeant Cramer of the United States Marines showed a picture dealing with life in the Marines. The title of the picture was "The Marines Have Landed."

On the following day, April 15, the newly formed Language Club of Kingston High School sponsored an assembly in K. H. S. At that time three reels of motion pictures were shown, the titles of which were: "Mexico," "Paris" and "Rio de Janeiro."

Meeting Held

The Language Club of the high school held its regular meeting Thursday, April 16.

The meeting was in charge of Marilyn Reichert, who presented an interesting program dealing

Festival Highlighted

Listed below are the outstanding highlights of the Music Festival to be held in Kingston at the end of the week.

The festival will begin Friday morning at 9 o'clock and will last through Friday and Saturday in both schools. More than 2,500 students representing 42 schools will be present to take place in one or more events. Bands, orchestras, choirs and all kinds of solos will be presented. The high school band, orchestra and a cappella choir will participate in addition to a number of high school students who will solo. There will be enough twirlers present to last all day Saturday (having one every eight minutes), from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Prisma Presents

Tuesday afternoon, April 21, the Prisma Society of K. H. S. presented the American Song Book. This was a program of popular and long-to-be-remembered songs which were sung by three professional performers.

A. A. Banquet

On Friday evening, May 1, the Athletic Association will have its annual banquet in the M. J. M. Gym.

In addition to the regular full course dinner, movies will be shown and a prominent speaker will be present.

Assemblies

Last Friday, April 17, two assemblies were held.

In "B" assembly the orchestra under the able direction of Mr. Franko presented a musical program.

William Baker played a saxophone solo, "Carnegie." This was the same solo which he played for the K. H. S. band concert. Also featured on this program was a strong sextet which played a song written by Mr. Franko.

In "A" assembly a round table discussion was presented by students from New Paltz State Teachers' College. This round table discussion was headed by Miss Peggy Block. Several of the local students took part in the discussion. A general question period followed the regular discussion. The topic discussed was "Nutrition and Health."

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

I wonder how many of the older readers of this column recall being rocked by the earthquake that shook the city for a period of four minutes on Saturday night, February 28, 1925.

The quake shook the whole northeastern part of the United States and eastern Canada and was felt as far west as Wisconsin. The tremors were felt more severely in certain sections of the city than in others.

I recall that a resident of the Ponckhockie section who was trying to find some time to read a novel written by Miss Eleanor Chipp, local novelist, heard the baby upstairs in his crib begin to cry.

He was about to lay down his book and ascend to the upper floor to rock the baby to sleep when the earthquake took the job out of his hands, starting the cradle to rocking and the baby to sleep.

Other residents in other sections of the city who had retired to bed early were awakened as the beds began to shake under the force of tremors. Rocking chairs throughout the rooms in the houses began to rock, while dishes rattled on the shelves and pictures on the walls hung lopsided.

In a long account of the quake and its effects in Kingston The Freeman the following Monday recorded that no serious damage had been reported to property in the city, although some residents said that the quake had caused cracks to appear in the walls in some of the rooms.

The quake was also felt throughout Ulster county, but no damage was recorded.

It was at 9:21 o'clock that night that the first tremor was felt and it was 9:25 o'clock when the quake ceased.

With the opening of the Rondout Creek Bridge some time previous to the earthquake residents along Wurts street and vicinity reported that they felt the houses shake but thought it was merely heavier traffic than usual passing over the bridge and up and down the Wurts street hill.

Some of the householders on Wurts street said that since the opening of the bridge many heavy trucks passed up and down the hill and the vibration from the trucks were so heavy that it would take more than a mere earthquake to scare them.

Willkie's Position Gains in Republican Party Because of Resolution Adopted in Chicago

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 22.—Wendell Willkie's position in the Republican party is somewhat enhanced as a result of the resolution adopted by the Republican National Committee in Chicago. All of his ideas were not accepted but the substance of his view was incorporated in the final action taken.

Mr. Willkie is not a bit more popular with organization Republicans than he was several months ago. There is still a feeling among them that he has supported the administration's foreign policy at the expense of active opposition to arbitrary acts of the New Deal on domestic questions.

But Mr. Willkie nevertheless has shown that his bid for leadership is not based upon an appeal to the organization leaders or to the politicians of his party in congress. He has chosen instead to follow the tactics which made William Jennings Bryan a power in the Democratic party over a long span of time even though the regular organizations of the party fought him every inch of the way.

Mr. Bryan's success in winning three nominations to the presidency on the Democratic ticket and virtually dominating the selection of a fourth nominee in 1912 was due entirely to his readiness to incur the unpopularity that came from opposing the conservative elements of his party. He endeavored instead to espouse what he believed were the progressive causes and especially those on which he firmly believed public opinion had crystallized.

Mr. Willkie took the unpopular side of the pre-war issues in Republican circles and supported the lend-lease policy and the aid-to-Britain program at a time when a majority of the members of his own party in congress were still influenced by the isolationist side of the war argument.

There are among the Republican leaders in different parts of the country men who supported Willkie in 1940 who denounce him now and would not cast their ballots for him in another convention. But these same men would have difficulty in finding another Republican of national prominence who had made a record on war issues as good as that of Wendell Willkie. If the election were held tomorrow, he would have no apologies to make for his course before Pearl Harbor as is the case with so many Republican members of congress.

Mr. Willkie has apparently determined to follow the plan which has so often brought men into positions of profound influence in party affairs, namely to take a bold stand in conformity with what he believes to be public opinion and to let the chips fall where they may politically. The other course is to pussy-foot and trim and adjust the sails to political factionalism so as to avoid making enemies inside the ranks.

Will all this help Mr. Willkie when the 1944 nominating conventions occur, especially if the organization men are opposed to him? The so-called organization men, for the most part, didn't want Willkie in 1940 and they will be even more vehement in their opposition next time. But the rank and file of the Republican voters will decide the issues of 1944 as they have in other political conventions at a time of crisis.

Other words, if Mr. Willkie's view of the nation's international responsibilities is the predominant view of the country so that on foreign policy there is no serious difference of opinion between the parties, the Republicans will have to decide whether on domestic issues Mr. Willkie's popularity in the nation is such as to enable him as the nominee of his party to win the election. Political delegates denounce their leaders bitterly but they always manage to pick out someone they think has a better chance of winning than anybody else in the field. On the whole the desire to win the final election motivates conventions more than does political bitterness or factional fighting.

Now it may be that in 1944 if the war is over and international issues are less important than domestic reconstruction, some other individual will have come from the Willkie camp which would be history repeating itself in the manner in which Bryan influenced his party. For Willkie, like Bryan, is watching public opinion rather than the murmurs of the organization politicians.

Stamps in the News

By the AP Feature Service

Posters of the National Wildlife Federation probably will be more popular than ever this year, not only because the government has issued fewer regular stamps than in several years, but also because interest in this country has become more concentrated with the drop in travel abroad.

The stamps which are scientifically accurate are interesting to collectors because they meet all requirements of a postage stamp except that of franking mail. They also represent a patriotic movement for conservation of natural resources.

This is the fifth year of issue of wildlife conservation stamps. The previous issues show a total of 140 species of wildlife and include descriptive albums. The stamps are issued as part of the education program of the National Wildlife Federation, Washington, D. C.

The sheet shows eight large oblongs of trees or flowers at top and bottom with six rows of eight stamps in between. These are smaller and horizontal rather than vertical oblongs. Their designs show animals, fish and birds.

Urges Industrial Sugar Users to Fill Out Blanks

Albany, April 21—State Rationing Director Maurice F. Neufeld today urged retailers, wholesalers and institutional and industrial users of sugar to fill out their registration forms in advance of the trade registration dates.

"Although adequate provisions have been made to handle the trade registration on April 28 and 29, the process will be greatly facilitated if trade users of sugar complete their registration forms in advance of these dates," Dr. Neufeld said. "Filling out the forms ahead of time will speed up the entire registering process, and will save time both for those signing up and those in charge of registration."

Dr. Neufeld said that trade registration forms may be obtained from local rationing boards. It is expected that all boards will have the necessary forms within a day or two. However, because of the problems involved in the printing and distribution of millions of such forms, some boards may receive their supply later than others, and Dr. Neufeld advised those wishing to obtain registration sheets ahead of time to check by telephone with their local boards to see if registration materials are available.

Dr. Neufeld pointed out that the forms need not be filled out at the rationing board office. Those applying for forms may take them home and fill them out at their convenience. Then when they appear to register on April 28 or 29 the registrar will merely have to check the forms. This should cut the registration time substantially.

Dr. Neufeld called attention to the fact that even though the forms are filled out in advance they must be signed in the presence of a registrar on the days of registration. He pointed out that it should be much easier for trade users of sugar to work on their registration forms ahead of time, since they will then have more time to check the accuracy of their inventory figures.

There are two types of registration forms, one for retailers and wholesalers, and another for institutional and industrial users of sugar. An application for sugar purchase certificates is also to be filled out by institutional and industrial users.

The person registering and applying for sugar purchase certificates must be the owner, a partner, officer or manager of the registering unit. A registering unit may be either an establishment or a group of establishments.

Pertinent Facts On Conscription

Service and former service men agree on the general rule: Bring as little as possible, of either extra clothing or accessories.

It is possible for a man to report for induction with no equipment other than the clothes he has on, and without money, and still get along until he is discharged from service. All requisite transportation, food, shelter, and clothing will be furnished by the government.

There are a few items, however, that should be taken in the interest of cleanliness, comfort, and happiness. At most, these include one change of shirt and underwear for the first morning's use, a small cake of soap and soap container, a tooth brush and tooth paste or powder, a comb and small hairbrush. It is well to take some money. A small durable metal shaving mirror, shoe dauber or small brush and polish, a compact sewing kit and small clothes brush or whisk broom are suggested as "going away" presents.

In addition, the selectee should bring a razor and shaving brush and soap or powder unless he is fortunate enough to be able to go through the first two days without shaving. An electric razor may be usable in some places, but the soldier will not always find a convenient electric outlet for it.

It is well to bring a tan tie and extra handkerchiefs. The Army will issue one tie and four handkerchiefs, but many soldiers will want an extra supply.

It is most desirable that a small bag or valise be carried, or a folding carton and strong string. This will be needed to mail civilian clothes back home from the reception center.

Adrian Schwartz Will Be In Temple Emanuel Pulpit

Adrian Schwartz is to occupy the pulpit of Temple Emanuel on Friday evening next. The public is invited. Mr. Schwartz, a native of the middle west, has lived in Palestine and contacted all classes of British, Arab and Jewish inhabitants. His relationship to the University of Mount Scopus and his analysis of its strategic importance as a center of learning and science have widespread value for us in our struggle against dictatorship.

Mr. Schwartz is well-known for his book, "Associations of American Jews," which is used on a number of American college campuses as a textbook. He brings a message of interpretation and information about Palestine's center of learning which should concern everyone. Those who are interested in the problems of the Jew are urged to attend. Mr. Schwartz's point of view is typical of the modern American and his wide interests in all phases of human living should enlighten and inform many.

Know Your Navy

The battleship: It's the biggest fighting naval vessel afloat. Some 600 or more feet of solid power and strength built to stand, hit, and slug it out. Ninety-five per cent steel, it is as large as many of the largest skyscrapers and is designed, as every sailor knows, "to fight any vessel anywhere." It is usually the last naval vessel to enter action but when it does go in its job is to deliver the knockout blow and win a battle or even a war. Battleships can cause a nation to fall in an hour's time.

The pride of the navy are such modern United States battleships as the North Carolina and the Washington. These great floating fortified cities costing over $65,000,000 are homes for some 1,600 officers and men. With a beam of more than 100 feet, sufficient only for a few inches of clearance to get through the Panama Canal, and a draft of more than 30 feet, these new ships epitomize the high standard of the new American two-ocean navy.

A modern 35,000 ton battleship is a powerful weapon. It carries nine 16-inch guns, each 60 feet long and weighing 125 tons. These guns are arranged three to a turret with three turrets forward and one aft. Each turret is a movable fort in itself with an elevator that sinks into the very bottom of the vessel to the magazine. From the magazines, shells and powder are conveyed mechanically to the guns for firing.

Tosses 40,000 Pounds

A broadside from the big guns of such a vessel can throw 40,000 pounds of metal and T. N. T. on a target more than 20 miles away. In addition to the big 16-inchers, there are secondary batteries, many machine guns, and anti-aircraft guns to fight off attacking planes, the ship is heavily armored. Below the waterline there are a series of shell-like water-tight compartments covering the hull to take the shock of shells and prevent the ship from sinking as a result of a direct hit. A new battleship carries several planes aft which may be catapulted from its deck into the air.

Most battleships have a single broad curving teakwood deck—over 50,000 square feet of it and it must be scraped regularly. Over this rises the superstructure. Here are the masts, the stacks, the bridge, some of the smaller guns, and the various fire control stations from which gunnery officers direct the fire of the batteries. Great steam-driven turbines operate the four propellers which can send the ship along at a speed of some 30 knots. The steam is generated in oil-burning boilers.

Every battleship in the U. S. Navy carries the name of a state and the people of each state present to their battleship through their legislature, the ceremonial silver used on special occasions in the officers' mess. Usually embossed on the pieces are the coat of arms and symbolic scenes of the state's history.

Six separate departments form the basic organization of a battleship and these are subdivided into divisions. The six departments are gunnery, navigation, engineering, construction and repair, supply and medical, and under these headings is managed all activity on the vessel.

Every action and every plan on a "battleship" is designed for one purpose: to get the ammunition in the guns and on the guns squarely on the enemy target. The enemy must be destroyed before it can strike and the men on U. S. battleships are trained to do just that job. Battleships of the U. S. Navy at sea today are stripped for action. Equipment that is not needed, that is inflammable, or that is likely to splinter, has been dispensed with. Whenever possible, wind sails have been substituted for ventilators and splinter screens and nets have been rigged. Each member of the crew is constantly on the alert for the signal that throws him into the work for which the ship was built and for which the men were trained—battle.

The first word may come after dark: The radio watch picks up a message that an enemy squadron is nearby. The position is given, and the order is to destroy the enemy. The shrill boat-siren's pipe gives the call: "All hands clear ship for action."

Perhaps under a moonless sky covered with low flying clouds, those members of the crew of watch tumble from bunks and get quickly to work. In the engine room, preparations are under way for full power, in the torpedo room detonators and dry primers are stored and the loading of torpedoes is begun. Prisoners are released. Unnecessary inflammables, oils, paints, and liquids are tossed overboard. Hoses are laid out and tested. All electrical and steam circuits except those needed for battle are thrown off. Repair stations and collision mats are rigged. The medical station is manned and first aid packages are handed out. The weather decks are wet down and the scuppers plugged. All water-tight doors and hatches that are designated are sealed during action. And these are only a few of the jobs done speedily with watchlike precision.

The ship is prepared. On darkened decks men stand silent at their posts. In the gun turrets, the ammunition rooms, the engine rooms, and at all observation posts men with earphones clamped tightly to their heads await their orders through the battle telephone system. The great "battleship" and its men are ready to face and fight "any vessel, anywhere."

New Paltz Dairy Farmer Files in New York

New York, April 21 (Special)—In a petition filed in Federal Court here today under Section 75 of the Chandler Bankruptcy Act, David F. Jewett, New Paltz dairy farmer, asked that a composition of his debts be arranged as he is unable to meet his current obligations.

He lists liabilities of $73,400, of which $52,812 represents secured claims against him. The assets, $49,283, are made up chiefly of real estate. His farm lands, amounting to 284 acres, are listed at $31,500.

New Paltz creditors include Jay LeFevre, owed $14,000; Cora Lawrence, $337; Jesse Elting, $643; New Paltz Lumber Co., $698; and Helen Hasbrouck, $920. Other creditors include I. T. and C. A. Welch and Sons, West Edmeston, N. Y., $5,450; Federal Land Bank of Springfield, $20,925; Kingston Trust Co., as executor under the will of Edward T. McGill, $2,218; Ralph Clark, Bloomingburg, N. Y., $690; Clintondale Fruit Growers Co-operative, $1,368; and Half Moon Farms, Rosendale, $3,500.

Mr. Schwartz is well-known for his book, "Associations of American Jews," which is used on a number of American college campuses as a textbook. He brings a message of interpretation and information about Palestine's center of learning which should concern everyone. Those who are interested in the problems of the Jew are urged to attend. Mr. Schwartz's point of view is typical of the modern American and his wide interests in all phases of human living should enlighten and inform many.

Naval Recruiter Will Be in City

Men Will Be Interviewed at Postoffice

The local naval recruiter serving Ulster county will be at the Kingston Post Office building on Thursday, April 23, from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m. to examine applicants for enlistment in the United States Navy and Naval Reserve. Applicants are requested to bring their birth certificates with them to the office.

Applicants can enlist for two, three, or four years in the Naval Reserve and be ordered to active duty in about two weeks after making applications. The navy is in need of tradesmen and any applicant who has had some training at a trade will have the opportunity of finishing that trade in the United States Naval Reserve. For more information anyone may call at the U. S. Naval Recruiting Station, basement of the Kingston P. O. building Thursday, April 23.

Diamond Mining Booms in Brazil

United States Is Holding Right to Purchase All to Be Produced

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, April 22 (Wide World)—Diamond mining is booming in Brazil with the United States holding the right in a soaring market to buy all that can be produced of the little bright stones that cut the hard steels used in armament.

In 1941 Japan was the second largest buyer of Brazilian diamonds, followed by Italy and Switzerland. It is probably that many of the little precious packets bought by Tokyo found their way eventually to Germany's war mills.

Last year the United States signed an agreement with Brazil to take all exportable production of specified strategic materials for two years, and the entry of the United States into the war has had the effect of cutting off even the contraband diamond shipments which occasionally slipped through on boats or the Italian Latin airline to the Axis.

Brazil produced $1,500,000 of diamonds which sold for $11 a gram in 1936 now bring $90. The figures are only approximate, however, for diamond mining is still carried on in the little explored back country by individuals who sell their finds to traveling buyers.

Has Great Reserve

The state of Bahia is reported to have the world's greatest reserve of black diamonds, of special industrial value because of their hardness. Prices for these have quadrupled and exports risen from $3,000 in 1936 to more than $700,000 in 1941.

Although Brazil's diamond production is only five per cent of the world total, it is of high importance in war time, with Brazil and British Guiana the only producers in the western hemisphere.

All over South America mining is being encouraged to expand production of mercury, tungsten, platinum, nickel, mica, chrome, bauxite, tin and copper.

Projects are under way to develop new resources of fibres which no longer can be obtained in the Far East. Many of these formerly went to Europe or the Axis. Now they go to the United States in the assembly of its war machine.

One of the most important of all reserves is bauxite for aluminum. Brazil's are estimated at 150,000,000 tons, largest in the western hemisphere and enough to supply a maximum plane building program for years.

British and Dutch Guiana now export most of the bauxite to Canada and the United States, but United States commercial and technical experts have discussed the problem of mining and transporting the Brazilian reserves, scattered in 81 deposits.

Brazilian resources, untouched until 1936, produced 7,000 tons that year, 14,000 tons last year, and the output is expected to rise sharply with the importation of mining equipment and financial assistance.

Rivalling rubber as a strategic material since the fall of the Dutch East Indies and Malaya is tin. Land-locked, miner-rich Bolivia is the biggest producer in the hemisphere.

Travel Routes Expand

Spurred by an agreement with the United States creating a $25,000,000 Bolivian development corporation, the country is expanding production and urging workers to put forth every effort. There has been a tremendous development of roads and railroads to get the tin to points of shipment.

Before the war Bolivia shipped all its tin to Great Britain where it was smelted. Now the United States gets part of the output and plans to smelt it in a new plant in Texas.

While Bolivia has been called a "one crop country" because of its famous tin mines, its resources of wolfram, antimony and bismuth are extensive. Formerly Japan took much of the wolfram, important in alloys, but now the United States gets it all.

The United States will also get all of Argentina's available tin through a purchase agreement, and is investigating tin deposits in Brazil with a view to gaining an additional supply.

One of the greatest mineral storehouses of the hemisphere is Mexico, where water transportation presents less of a problem.

Following President Avila Camacho's appeal to workers to increase production, thousands of tons of mercury, tungsten, copper, graphite, molybdenum, lead, cobalt, gypsum, zinc, vanadium and antimony, as well as manganese and some tin, have been mined and sent in a steady stream over the border.

Closed shafts have been reopened and new shafts driven thousands of workers employed, and production necessary for tropical life, Graphite mines in Sonora State have upped production 50 per cent. Some smuggling of mercury to Japan was stopped by the Pacific war.

Exactly half way around the globe from the Netherlands East Indies, tiny Ecuador is finding her strategic importance suddenly magnified by the resources of her rough Andean Mountains which in many items match those of the fallen Dutch colonies.

Here is being produced in growing volume cinchona bark for quinine, necessary for tropical life, coffee, cocoa, coconut products, rice, mangrove extract, copper, as well as rubber.

The United States is sending exploration, purchasing, and medical missions to improve health conditions in fever-ridden jungles and increase production.

Mrs. Wood Is Beneficiary

New York, April 21 (Special)—Mrs. Dorcas Wood of 299 Clinton avenue, Kingston, is the recipient of $9,678 representing the net estate of her aunt, the late Annie Trimble of Brooklyn, according to a State Transfer Tax Department report filed in Brooklyn Surrogate's Court today. Miss Trimble died June 2, 1941. She left property, which today's appraisal sets at $12,679 gross value, $10,178 net.

Browne—How do you like buying a house on the installment plan?

Greene—It has its drawbacks. By the time I have my house paid for it will be so old and devastated that I will have to build a new one.

Explaining gets to be a chronic habit with a lot of people.

Bones—I feel stiff all over. Arnica—What's the trouble?

Bones—We bought modernistic furniture a couple of weeks ago, and I just found out I've been sleeping in a bookcase all the time.

It never pays to worry about what other people are thinking about you, for they are probably wondering what you are thinking about them.

Kathryn—I intend to marry Billy Bullion, in spite of all opposition.

A down-and-out actor was getting desperate. He approached the manager of a variety theatre and offered to dive off a 60-foot ladder to the stage.

The manager accepted the offer, and next night the actor duly climbed to the top of the ladder and dived head first to the stage below. He rose to his feet, clapped his hand to the back of his head and pranced about the stage.

Manager—Here, your act is fine, but cut this sissy stuff. Actor—Sissy stuff, my eye! I've broken my neck.

Mary—Well, you should have married him when he wanted you to.

Grace—I did.

An enthusiast was yelling the home team to victory. But suddenly he became silent. Turning to his pal, he whispered, "I've lost my voice." The reply came back, "Don't worry, you'll find it in my right ear."

LIONS BLOCK ROAD

A detour is in order when four lions block the roadway. A. J. Reynecke of Barborton, South Africa, decided when he found a quartet of the jungle kings in the pathway of his car. Coming to a halt when the eyes of the beasts were reflected by his headlights so that he thought the gleams that of a highway sign, he honked his horn. The lions refused to budge for 10 minutes, and Reynecke backed his car away and detoured.

Secret Orders

BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

Chapter 12 Planes In The Night

DOWN at Headquarters that morning, excitement raged like a prairie fire. Stephanie answered telephones, enrolled volunteers, recorded subscriptions, ran errands, grateful for the intense preoccupation that kept her thoughts away from the details of the carnage at Pearl Harbor that were gradually sifting back to the mainland. And Kurt, where was he?

But she wouldn't let herself go on. Instead, she drove her mind ruthlessly to the work piled high before her. Work in terms of mountains of sliced bread to be made into sandwiches for the boys posted on the bridges, guarding the docks, the power stations, the nerve centers of the great, busy city.

Stacks and stacks of sandwiches, gallons of coffee, hundreds of trips to the string of cars and station wagons Red Cross workers would drive bearing food to boys patrolling cold, lonely beats. Stephanie herself would have taken her place at the wheel of one of the cars but for Henri.

"My dear girl," he protested, meeting her at the doorway as she staggered under the burden of a huge carton of food. "You look so fatigued. You must get some rest."

"Can't, Henri," she muttered. "Too much to do."

"But you will not be able to help if you wear yourself out, Stephanie," he argued reasonably. "You cannot do everything in one day."

"He's right, Miss Merrill," one of the older women agreed. "You've done your part for today, certainly. And to Henri. Take her home, young man."

Stephanie smiled wearily. "Okay, Henri. And let him lead her to his car. How did you happen to be down here anyway, interfering with the work of the Red Cross?" she asked as they drove across busy Market Street, headed for the hilly residential district.

He smiled. "I had an idea you would be down here, working too hard. You must not do so much."

"But—there is so much to be done and so few—"

She stopped as the rising wail of a siren swelled from an ominous whine to a heart-chilling scream.

"What's that?"

Street lights winked off giving her the answer before Henri's cool, "Air-raid signal, Stephanie. This is a blackout."

Blackout

THEY had reached the crest of the Sonoma Street hill. Henri pulled the car to the curb, snapped off the engine. Instantly Stephanie climbed out, stood watching the lights in the City below disappearing in whole blocks at one stroke. Lights on the Bridge below, on the shores across the throat of the harbor, all blotted up now by darkness.

"A blackout!" Stephanie whispered, appalled. "San Francisco—blackout for an air raid! It can't be happening!"

"But it can be," Henri said quietly at her shoulder. "It is happening."

Her fists curled deep in the pockets of her warm coat. "They wouldn't dare!"

She felt rather than saw him shrug. "But they are daring!"

"Come on. Let's walk the rest of the way to the house. We can watch the Bay better from our porch," Stephanie suggested and started off without waiting for his answer.

For a while as she stood leaning against a porch pillar, looking out over the so-familiar scene that darkness was gradually covering with its pall. Stephanie forgot about Henri. And suddenly, tears were streaming down her cheeks. Bitter, angry tears of furious defiance.

"What can they do to us?" she heard her own voice blurt, angrily.

"Not much," Henri soothed calmly. "This coast is well-fortified."

Coyotes which followed the white man into Alaska are now damaging large areas of wild duck and game nesting areas.

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, was one of the nation's earliest women flying fans.

Shad Fishermen On Eastern War Time in Region

Albany, April 21.—To avoid confusion, the Conservation Department today advised shad fishermen that in the future the regulations governing this important Hudson river fishery would operate on the basis of the newly established Eastern War Time. That some confusion has already existed in plying out Standard Time was evidenced by numerous inquiries directed to the Department's Bureau of Inland Fisheries. Due to the fact that the annual run of shad in the Hudson river will reach its peak within the next 10 days and to avoid unintentional violations of the Conservation Law, the department was prompted to amend the rule regulating the weekly lift period of nets operated by shad fishermen in the Hudson river.

The order adopted today and which will be in effect throughout the present season is as follows:

"Scaps, seines, stakes, gills and fykes that have been duly licensed, or the use of which in the taking of minnows is provided for in the conservation law, may be operated in the waters of the Hudson river below the dam at Troy, between the hours of sunset and sunrise, except that between March 15 and June 15, no nets, excepting fyke nets, scap nets operated from the shore, and minnow nets used for the taking of bait, shall be set, placed, drawn or allowed to remain in the water between 12 o'clock noon Eastern War Time on Friday and 12 midnight Eastern War Time on the following Saturday."

One Killed in Blackout

New York, April 22 (AP)—North Brooklyn counted one dead and one hurt today after a 20-minute blackout last night in which 968,450 persons participated. Air raid Warden Otto Wuengling, 53, dropped dead of a heart attack while making his rounds, and Roman Wozniha, 33, an unemployed cement mason, received a skull fracture and lip laceration at the hands of an unidentified man when he lighted a cigarette during the demonstration.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

SOCIETIES • CLUBS • PERSONALS

Banquet Closes

Lowell Club Year

Lowell Club closed its year's activities last evening at a banquet held at the home of Mrs. Marie Gunther on the Plank road. The color scheme was patriotic with flower centerpieces of red carnations, white stocks and blue iris. At each place was an American flag and one of the flags of a South American country together with a picture representing the country of the flag. This was in keeping with the year's topic which was Latin America. During the banquet, Miss Flora Davison, toastmistress, called on each member in turn to relate some story for the group.

After the dinner a program which was planned by Mrs. John D. Groves, chairman, Miss Flora Davison, Miss L. May Quimby, and Mrs. Rose K. Witter, was presented. Mrs. Augustus Van Buren read Guy de Maupassant's "The Necklace" and this was followed by a well enacted play, "The Bad Penny." The story concerns three sisters of the Penny family. Mrs. O. D. B. Ingalls portrayed the married sister, Mrs. Rose K. Witter, the unmarried sister, and Mrs. James Guttridge, the "bad penny" who had become an actress and married a millionaire.

Following the program a social evening was enjoyed. Those who attended were Mrs. James Guttridge, Mrs. John D. Groves, Miss Flora Davison, Miss L. May Quimby, Mrs. Arthur S. Cole, Mrs. DuBois G. Atkins, Miss Helen Atkins, Mrs. William Delaplane, Mrs. William Fessenden, Mrs. Marie Gunther, Miss Mary Hale, Mrs. Wesley D. Hale, Mrs. E. Lewis Howe, Mrs. Orlando D. B. Ingalls, Mrs. James J. Murphy, Jr., Mrs. John Saxe, Mrs. Frederick Snyder, and Mrs. Augusta H. Van Buren.

Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Albright of 117 Hunter street are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary today. They were given a surprise party, Saturday evening at Wolf's Restaurant, and were presented with a gift from the group of friends. Those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Sleight, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wolff and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Van Nostrand.

MORE QUESTIONS ASKED ABOUT WRITING PAPER

My approval of a long letter written on paper whose first page is die-stamped in two colors and whose several following sheets of matching paper are left blank, has brought the following question from a reader: "Did you really mean to say, Mrs. Post, that such conspicuous skipping of cost is correct? Or did you mean that it would be proper as a war economy?"

For people whose handwriting is very large and who are in the habit of writing letters of several-page length, the second sheet blank may not be proof of economy so much as evidence of flexibility of writing materials. In other words, the chapter heading repeated throughout a book would be annoying rather than embellishing. It is of course true that colored die-stamping adds to the cost of stationery; two colors adds double. And it is probably true that cost may be the reason why paper is not more often stamped. But having the second sheet plain may be evidence of fastidious taste quite as well as of economy.

Another Question About Writing Paper

Dear Mr. Post: Will you please tell me where the telephone number should be die-stamped? I am going to have dies cut for our street address and our telephone number. Should the latter be placed below the first or do you like the little cut of the telephone with number placed by itself?

Answer: The separate one is prettier, but since die stamping in color is charged for at so much for each separate die, and not by its size, it is much more economical to have the telephone number cut below the house address. The telephone number alone, no matter how small, counts as much when separately stamped as a long address or monogram or coat of arms.

Announcing Secret Marriage

Dear Mrs. Post: Can a marriage that is almost two years old be announced as though it just took place? That is, must engraved announcements always contain the year? Couldn't this one line be omitted?

Answer: It would be very noticeable to omit the date. If you do not want to make the date public, then it would be better just to send out your double visiting cards with your address which would indefinitely announce your marriage, and definitely, your address.

A beautifully set table is the mark of a successful, well-informed hostess. Find out just how to set your table beautifully, by reading Emily Post's booklet, "THE ETIQUETTE OF TABLE SETTING." ### District Blister Rust Elimination Project to Start

H. G. Strait, in charge of the district blister rust control office in the post office building at Hyde Park, announced today that blister rust control work will start shortly in the town of Woodstock.

Some work was done there last year, he said, and it was hoped that the control work would be completed this season. Re-working of the pine areas will not be necessary for some years.

Some of this control work will be carried on by employees of the New York State Conservation Department working with employees of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine.

Where crews are necessary local W.P.A. help will be used.

Control work consists of removing currant and gooseberry bushes both wild and cultivated, from around the pine stands. These bushes are the means of spreading the blister rust disease to white pines.

Mr. Strait said that considerable work was done in Woodstock in 1932 in uprooting these bushes and resulted in maintaining the health of much of the pine.

A pre-eradication survey in 1940 shows that there is a considerable comeback of gooseberries and currants in places and that in order to continue the pine stands in good condition, re-working of the areas is necessary.

As a contribution to the war effort the men working through the woods and abandoned fields will report to the owners any overlooked metals of salvage value.

It has been the experience in the past that there is much of this material lying around in isolated places and has been observed by crew men. Since control work involves close coverage of all land areas in and near white pine it is believed that they will be able to uncover metals of considerable volume.

Mr. Strait said that the local salvage committee would be contacted and the owners of salvage metal so advised.

HOME BUREAU

Bough Gives Tale Of Hongkong Hell

Starvation Faces Population, Escaped Correspondent Says in China

(Henry Bough, a member of The Reuters staff formerly in Hongkong, escaped to Free China from the one-time British crown colony after three months in the Japanese-occupied city. He wrote the following dispatch for Reuters and The Associated Press.)

By HENRY BOUGH

Chungking, April 22—A Japanese-made hell—that was Hongkong three months after its occupation.

Starvation faces a large proportion of the population. When the Japanese seized the island it was estimated there was a nine-months supply of food on hand. But large quantities were commandeered by the Japanese army and shipped away.

Food supplied the prisoners of war is poor and scarce, and there is much sickness. Civilian internees are somewhat better off, for they occasionally get fish and meat. The prisoners of war are given only rice and beans.

I can confirm the appalling stories of murder and rape which have been reported. Many of the worst atrocities were committed in the presence of Japanese officers. They are only too true. Many of the women, after being attacked, were shot.

In the early days of the occupation the Japanese troops engaged in widespread looting. Men and women were stopped in the streets and watches and money were taken from them. Under the pretext of searching for arms, Japanese troops under the command of officers entered and ransacked private premises.

Everything possible is done to lower western prestige. Britons are ordered to sweep the streets while others must carry away dead bodies. British subjects are struck in the face on the slightest provocation.

All of these incidents took place before British and allied subjects were interned. One day notices appeared ordering all "enemy" nationals to report the following morning.

They were given a few hours to settle their private affairs, and were allowed to take with them only their clothing and personal belongings. The internees first were concentrated in several third-rate Chinese boarding houses.

After about two weeks all were removed to a large prison at Stanley, about four miles across from Victoria on Hongkong Island. No visitors were allowed there. The plight of elderly people perhaps was worst of all.

(Previous reports reaching Chungking have given a similar picture of Hongkong under Japanese rule, and a formal denunciation of the situation was made by the British government.)

Another Blackout For This Region Will Be Surprise

total darkness. Every precaution should be taken to ascertain that any blackout room is absolutely light tight from the outside.

No notice of the blackout, which will come during the week of April 26 to May 3 will be given in advance and every household should hold himself or herself in readiness and be on the alert. In that connection precaution should be taken to see that all lights are extinguished if it becomes necessary to leave the premises during the evening. The practice of leaving a hall light on while absent from the house should be discontinued. This is particularly important at all times since there is no knowing when the need for a real blackout may come in case of a real raid.

Mr. Cashdollar urges that all air raid wardens and other civilian defense workers hold themselves on the alert during the week of the scheduled blackout.

Rummage Sale

The Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will hold a rummage sale at 626 Broadway, April 23, 24 and 25.

SHORTAGE OF FERTILIZER

San Juan, P. R. (AP)—A serious shortage of fertilizer threatens sharply to reduce Puerto Rico's agricultural production, farm experts say. With an additional 10,000 tons needed for food crops alone and shipping space so scarce there seems to be little prospect of getting it, some sources have estimated the output of fruits and vegetables—all-important since food imports this year will be limited—may fall off 60 to 75 per cent. Puerto Rico produces most of the fertilizer it uses, but must import large amounts of raw materials from the mainland. Some of these, needed for the war effort, are not to be had.

The first cooking stoves in the United States were marketed in 1830.

SINGAPORE WATERFRONT UNDER JAP BOMBS

As C. Yates McDaniel, Associated Press correspondent, escaped from Singapore February 12, this was a typical scene of fire and destruction along the waterfront wrought by Japanese bombs.

Despite Axis Bait, Present Not Ripe For Peace Parley

Any Overtures Are Purely Axis Propaganda Bent on Delaying Action for Future Grabs

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Wide World War Analyst)

Word that Japanese Christians are praying for peace has been broadcast to the world by the official Tokyo news agency, Domei, thereby entitling us (indeed probably inviting us) to draw the conclusion that the government has started a peace movement.

This extraordinary bit of propaganda by Domei follows the warning given by Archibald MacLeish, director of the Office of Facts and Figures, that the Axis would launch a peace offensive this summer. MacLeish, speaking at the annual meeting of the Associated Press in New York Monday, declared this was "as much a Nazi weapon as a Nazi mechanized division," and urged that this type of Axis propaganda be combatted.

Any peace campaign by the Axis powers now is filled with peril for the Allies, since it is motivated by a desire to be free to consolidate their ill-gotten conquests and get set for further brigandage. The Hitlerian brotherhood has made its ambitions too clear for there to be any misunderstanding on our part. Japan, in particular, within recent days has been screaming to high heaven that it was going to crush America and Britain.

This is no time for the Allies to join in prayers for peace, that is, a negotiated peace. The war for survival in which we are engaged must be fought to a definite conclusion—until the powers of evil have been uprooted and utterly destroyed. No half-way business this time.

Now I hope readers won't start writing in and charging me with having an un-Christian spirit. I believe in prayer, but not to ask that the devil be unleashed to stalk the world. There's nothing in Christianity that tells us to compromise with the devil.

Let's Pray for Strength

By all means let's pray for strength to smash the enemy quickly. Let's pray for power to enforce our kind of peace on the Axis. But let's not pray for any old peace, just to end an unwelcome war which most certainly would rekindle itself from its own hot ashes.

Hitler would fall on the neck of any Allied power that suggested peace now. So would Hirohito, and why shouldn't they when it would give them a chance to absorb the vast territories which they have stolen, and rebuild their war machines for further slaughter. There hasn't been a minute since Hitler drove the British into the English Channel and forced France to her knees when he wouldn't have jumped at peace. He has fished for it constantly. Now Japan has arrived at the same pitch, being anxious to consolidate her conquests.

The point is, of course, that the Axis powers are satisfied with their gains. They're scared, because they can see defeat piling up against them. Look at the news in today's reports:

C. YATES MCDANIEL STILL ON JOB

C. Yates McDaniel, noted Associated Press correspondent, who fled Singapore February 12, was cast on an island between Singapore and Java when the Japs bombed his ship. "During the day on the island I worked on my notes of the last hours of Singapore," McDaniel said. Here he is, still at work.

head, says the Allies are producing essential war material in much greater quantities than the Axis. The Washington agriculture department tells of increasing difficulties confronting Germany and occupied countries in supplying their people with food and fiber crops. Our strength grows in the Orient, and the Russian threat hangs over Hitler's head like the sword of Damocles.

Unless we want to sell ourselves into bondage we must give the world no respite. There's danger even in listening to the peace chant from the Axis, for it is calculated to lull us into a feeling of false security.

Our only possible safety, and our only chance to rebuild this world for the benefit of all peoples—Allied and Axis alike—is to continue fighting until the aggressors have been utterly smashed and the leaders of aggression have been placed under restraint.

Ulster County Electrical Association Has Session

The Stuyvesant Hotel was the scene of the monthly meeting of the Ulster County Electrical Association this week. Members were in attendance from Kingston, Ellenville, Poughkeepsie, Rosendale, West Shokan and Spring Glen.

President Donald Bishop presided and after the usual business meeting he introduced Charles H. Adler of Poughkeepsie, a representative of the War Production Board.

Mr. Adler spoke of the W. P. B. as being one year old and that it is taking the place of the O. P. M. which was abolished. The purpose of the W. P. B. is to assist manufacturers who may produce war goods. He cited a case where his office brought together two manufacturers located but three blocks apart in the same city, who as a combination could manufacture a very essential product.

He also mentioned that manufacturers with idle facilities still must put forth a selling effort and make themselves known to the various government agencies and that it is not necessary to buy any contracts through any outside agency.

The many restrictions are for the purpose of putting materials where they will go directly into the war effort. We must think wholly in terms of war production, he said.

Ex-Officio Directors

In addition the constitution provides that the following shall be ex-officio directors of the association: The district state health officer for the district including Ulster county; county commissioner of public health; health chairman of the city of Kingston; chairman of the public relations committee of the Medical Society of the county of Ulster; chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

Following the meeting the board of directors assembled and elected the following as officers of the society for the present year:

President—The Hon. Joseph M. Fowler.

Vice-presidents—Mrs. Clara N. Reed and Harry S. Ensign.

Treasurer—Alfred D. Ronder.

Secretary—Katherine M. Murphy.

Following the opening of the meeting Judge Fowler the secretary, Miss Murphy, listed the names of those present with the organization they represented. Judge Fowler observed that all who were attending should feel that they were active members of the association and part of the work that was being carried on.

"We expect that you will be willing and ready to act with us and for us as occasion demanding your services may arise," he said.

Miss Murphy then briefly reviewed the work that had been done during the past year, mimeographed copies of her report being distributed to all present.

She stressed that the great aim of the association was the eradication of tuberculosis in Ulster county by 1960. Increased efforts in the program of venereal disease prevention, by giving to the public plain facts concerning syphilis and gonorrhea—characterized as "the prime wasters of manpower"—was urged.

During the year the association has distributed over 8,600 leaflets and health posters; shown pictures and given talks to over 1,500 persons; presented radio skits and talks; published health releases to county papers regularly and maintained a lending library of books for the patient, the teacher and the public.

A moving picture projector has been purchased and used to show health films in schools and at other gatherings. Several interesting films

ESOPUS

Esopus, April 22.—Mr. and Mrs. William Jamin of Westwood, N. J., formerly of Esopus, are receiving congratulations for a great-granddaughter.

Esther Osberg spent Saturday in New York, visiting the Natural History Museum and The Haden Planetarium.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jagger are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. William Witt of West Esopus. The Jagers are from New Jersey.

A card party will be held this Friday night at the Ulster Park Community Hall sponsored by the Busy Bee Sewing Circle for the benefit of the Red Cross. A silver offering will be taken up instead of the usual offering.

Claude Barringer is spending a few days in Detroit, Michigan visiting friends.

The Rev. and Mrs. T. W. B. Magnan spent Monday in New York, visiting the juvenile courts.

John Traver and son, David, Henry Dirks and Fred Schane, all formerly of Esopus and now of Connecticut, spent Sunday visiting Wiltwyck.

Truck Knocked Out Police Signal Box

John Graney of 20 Andrew street, reported to the police department at 5:40 o'clock Tuesday afternoon that the truck he was driving had struck the police signal box, No. 42, on a pole on East Street, near Hasbrouck avenue, knocking it from the pole.

The signal box was taken to police headquarters by Officers Fitzgerald and Van Aken, and repaired and placed in use again at 7 o'clock last night.

Van Leuvan Not Defendant

New York, April 22 (AP)—Eight men accused of extorting $157,800 from independent milk dealers have rested their cases and a ninth, Jeremiah Buckley of Jersey City, N. J., has reserved the right to offer additional testimony at resumption of the trial today.

Charges against three other defendants were dismissed Monday on motions by the district attorney.

Hiram Van Leuvan of Poughkeepsie, former president of Local 400, International Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union (A. F. of L.), is not a defendant in the case. He was a witness April 17 at the trial and the Associated Press described him then as one of the defendants.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, April 22.—The 123rd anniversary of the founding of Odd Fellowship in America will be fittingly celebrated at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, April 26, in the Olive Bridge Methodist Church.

The Rev. William Peckham, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church in Kingston will present the anniversary address. There will be various other special features.

Arthur E. Trowbridge will preside as master of ceremonies. Cooperative sponsorship is being given the affair by Aetna Lodge No. 172 of Kingston.

Shokan Lodge No. 491 and Olive Rebekah Lodge No. 470. A large attendance is anticipated and the public is invited.

Charles Johnson of Atwood is paneling the West Shokan Heights Wayside bungalow now owned by Henry Eckert and Henry Huntstein of New York.

Messrs. Homer Markle, Francis Every and Charles Jansen, who compose Olive's board of assessors visited west side properties during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. David Luben, new owners of the Dr. Henry L. Bibby farm property are making extensive improvements both in the residence and adjoining grounds.

Horace Diamond, whose funeral was held Sunday at the Sansonville Church, was widely known as a builder of sturdy frame barns. Mr. Diamond was one of the old school and the work of his ingenuity and craftsmanship dot the landscape as monuments to his memory.

One of these is the addition to John Jordan's barn built several years ago, when the builder himself was nearly 80 years old.

Charles Brodhead and Mrs. Helen Tweedy sang a duet Sunday afternoon at the West Shokan Church services, with Thomas Crosby, Sr., as organ accompanist. A number of Kingston residents were present at the services.

The Rev. John A. Wright delivered the sermon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kelder and family were week-end visitors.

The telephone line recently was extended for the convenience of several new Watson Hollow area subscribers.

Mrs. Jamie Eckert, having returned from Endicott vicinity, is staying with her brother, Ward Beesmer, and family in Olive Bridge. Sunday Mrs. Eckert visited her brother, William of Brodhead, who is critically ill of pneumonia in the Benedictine Hospital, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Taradash and other members of the Dolan household spent the week-end at the West Shokan Heights family estate.

Congratulations are extended Past Grand Alonzo Davis of Shokan L.O.O.F., who was the unanimous choice for district deputy at the recent annual session of the District of Ulster Grand Committees held in West Saugerties.

E. C. Davis, who has served continuously as secretary since 1931, was re-elected. Representatives from Shokan Lodge, included: Past District Deputies Arthur E. Trowbridge and Virgil C. Gordon, Lester B. Davis, Edward Van Kleek, Reginald E. Davis, Alonzo Davis and E. C. Davis.

An out-of-town family is occupying the Watson Hollow Inn for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Jones of Kingston were among the Sunday guest group entertained at Maple Dell Farms. Mrs. Artakay Bede, a Sunday returned home to New York Sunday following a stay of two weeks.

A family dinner gathering was entertained by Miss Ollie Burgher last Thursday evening, April 15, on the occasion of her birthday anniversary. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Burgher and son, Bruce, and Mrs. Elizabeth Shadr of Kingston, also Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Burgher of Mt. Tremper. Miss Burgher was the recipient of many gifts and greetings.

Philip and Charles Dwyer did some early planting last week. Judge Lester S. Davis made a business trip to Kingston Monday. Irving Bell of Brodhead Heights, who was ill at his home due to a recurrence of his old heart ailment is reported as improving.

James Martin is getting favorable comments for the attractive job he has been doing with the grading of his lawn, making driveway and building a stone wall

New Peaches Listed For East Orchards

Fruit Specialists Have Named Best Sorts

Geneva, N. Y., April 22 — Thirteen new peaches, four nectarines, and two apricots which believe to be especially worthy of trial in eastern orchards are listed by the fruit specialists at the State Experiment Station here. None of the varieties originated at the station, but all have been under test there for a sufficient length of time to enable the horticulturists to judge of their merit.

Eight of the peach varieties are introductions of the New Jersey Experiment Station and four come from the Horticultural Experiment Station at Vineland, Canada. The remaining variety, Mikado, is rated as the most popular very early yellow peach fruiting on the station grounds. The fruit ripens the first week in August and is semi-cling in nature.

The New Jersey varieties include both white and yellow sorts and all are either freestone or semi-cling. They include Cumberland, Delicious, Golden Jubilee, Marigold, Oriole, Pioneer, and Sunbeam. The Canadian varieties are of the Elberta type and include Valiant, Vedette, Veteran, and Viceroy. Detailed descriptions of all of these varieties are given in the catalog of the New York State Fruit Testing Association which cooperates with the experiment station in the propagation and distribution of planting stocks of the station's new fruits and of varieties originated elsewhere which the station specialists believe worthy of trial. A copy of the catalog may be obtained upon request to the station.

Four nectarines or smooth-skinned peaches are also listed in the catalog. Nectarines are peaches in every respect except that they have no fuzz. They add variety and charm to the fruit planting and with the development of improved varieties adapted to eastern conditions, it is expected that they will gain in popularity. The station is also testing two new apricots, one from Italy and one originated with a fruit grower near Geneva. The seedlings are notable for the large size of their fruits and their high quality and good flavor.

Cincinnati Reds Nearing National League Cellar; Pitchers Are Hit Freely

Bucky Walters Is Latest of Once-Great Roster Who Is Blasted in Early Innings

(By The Associated Press)

The Cincinnati Reds are staggering groggily at the doorway to the National League cellar and finally learning what their best friends wouldn't tell them during spring training.

The Red's pitching, one of baseball's marvels for the last three years, suddenly has faltered.

Yesterday the St. Louis Cardinals shut out the Redlegs, 8 to 0. The fact that Cincinnati did not score would never cause a ripple of concern anywhere, because the club never has been able to hit, but that Bucky Walters gave up 11 hits in 6 1/3 innings was a matter of moment.

In their six games so far the Reds have had to use 11 hurlers. Elmer Riddle, the league's leading twirler last year, was belied off the mound in the first inning he pitched this season. Gene Thompson lasted only three frames in his first start. John Vander Meer pitched a five-hitter but spoiled it with the "one bad inning" he seems to have in game after game.

Walters was beaten in the opening game of the season, too. He pitched seven-hit ball, yielded four runs in the first four innings. Altogether the Reds have given 53 hits in 60 innings.

Other clubs might win with this sort of pitching, but the Reds cannot. Cincinnati has scored only 16 runs on 46 hits and the onefaultless defense now resembles a sieve. Rookie Bert Haas made four errors in four games at third base and manager Bill McKechnie in desperation shifted him to the outfield to preserve the youngster's power in the batting order. Then the Reds made eight errors in one game.

To show what the Reds are up against, St. Louis pitchers have allowed 48 hits in seven games and the Cardinals themselves have made 62 hits for 32 runs. And against the weaker opposition of the eastern division, Brooklyn pitchers have permitted 56 hits in eight games while their teammates have amassed 51 runs on 81 safeties.

Cooper Is Masterful
Prior to yesterday's Cardinals had come up with two four-hit games. Mort Cooper looked masterful in holding the Reds to three singles in his latest outing and the offensive his teammates waged on Walters was nothing short of vicious.

The Dodgers administered an even more heartless thrashing to the Boston Braves in a 13 to 2 decision. They knocked Al Javery out of the box with six hits and six runs in the first inning. They chased Dick Erickson with five hits and three runs in the second. And they collected eight hits and four runs off Johnny Hutchings while coasting with second stringers the rest of the way. Meanwhile, rookie Ed Head pitched eight-hit ball for his second success.

In the only other National League game Truett (Rip) Sewell held the Chicago Cubs to six hits while the Pittsburgh Pirates patterned a 5 to 2 triumph around home runs by Bob Elliott and Stu Martin.

The New York Yankees crushed the Philadelphia Athletics 10 to 4, by way of celebrating Manager Joe McCarthy's 55th birthday. Charley Keller hit a grand slam homer in the first inning and the Yanks raided the A's for five runs in the fourth. Charley (Red) Ruffing breezed to his second victory.

The Detroit Tigers whipped the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2, with Lynnwood (Schoolboy) Rowe and Johnny Gorsica sharing a six-hit pitching stint. Rowe kept the Sox shut out till the ninth, when Gorsica had to come in with the bases loaded.

Cleveland bunched its hits to beat the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 2, in the other American League game as Lefty Al Milnar kept seven safeties adequately spaced.

Norfolk, Va., April 22 (AP)—The Norfolk naval training station went deep into the heart of Texas for the relay team it will send to the Penn relay at Philadelphia Saturday. The quartet consists of Blaine Rideout, the famous miller from North Texas State; Layton Horner and Calvin Bell of Rice, and Morris Barefield, Texas U.

Chicago, April 22 (AP)—Barney Ross, former world lightweight and welterweight champion, was headed west today—a private in the marines. Ross, 32, was among a group of marine recruits who entrained last night for a training base. He enlisted March 9, but did not take the oath until yesterday.

Chicago, April 22 (AP)—Harold "Red" Grange, former "Galloping Ghost" of the University of Illinois gridiron, was appointed to Selective Service Board No. 144 yesterday as a re-employment committee member. His duties entail handling of questionnaires and occupational status of prospective selectees who may be eligible for deferment.

San Francisco, April 22 (AP)—There is a suspicion that coast league pitchers haven't—in accordance with baseball tradition—been saving their Sunday throwing for the second tour of the league.

Of 49 games played in the last two weeks, 23 have ended either in shutouts, or the losing team has scored but one run.

Fort Riley, Kas., April 22 (AP)—Unruly soldiers will do well to avoid military police who graduate from this replacement training center.

Jim Wilson Thinks Lou Novikoff Will Stick With Bruins

Pacific Coast Sensation Who Flopped in 1941, May Hit Stride in Present Season

Pittsburgh, April 22 (AP)—Lou Novikoff, last year's prize bust, is back for another whack at baseball's big show and Manager Jimmy Wilson thinks he may make good this time.

Lou, a stocky, likeable guy with a wide smile, a priceless dialect and a murderous bat—at least in the minors—came up from the Pacific Coast League to the Chicago Cubs last year under one of the heaviest deluges of superlatives ever showered on an untested major league rookie.

He was described as the kid who couldn't miss—but he did. Wilson, who knows a ball player when he sees one, says:

"I think the kid was nervous and tightened up trying to live up to all the things they said about him," Jimmy commented as he watched Novikoff pole out a long smash from the batting cage.

After hitting only .241 in 62 games for the Cubs last year when he expected to hit at least .300, Novikoff was farmed out to Milwaukee in the American Association. There he tore the league's pitchers apart and scattered the seams everywhere, leading the league with a gaudy .370 average in 90 games.

In this second try with the Cubs, Lou has only four hits in 14 trips for a .285 average—but the season has barely drawn its first breath and the modest start may help Novikoff, Wilson thinks.

Eldon Auker Says He May Drop Out of Baseball Soon

St. Louis Browns' Hurler Would Take Year-Round War Production Job for Duration

Cleveland, April 22 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns' veteran submarine hurler, 31-year-old Eldon Auker, may drop out of baseball for a year-round war production job.

"There's nothing definite yet," he said, "but something probably will be decided next week-end."

"The way I feel about it, if we don't win this war, there's not going to be any baseball. We've got a whole of a job on our hands and it's a bigger pennant race than sports."

Should he leave the Browns, he would be the first major leaguer to drop out during the playing season for a war plant job.

Auker has been working in the off season for Midwest Abrasive Co., Detroit, and traveled all winter as a liaison man between the concern and ordnance plants.

Now the company wants him on a full time basis, he says.

Booster and Wiltwycks Will Combine in Annual Banquet

Bill Scully Announces Date for Monday, May 18 at Barn; Many Are Expected

The Kingston Booster Bowling League and the Wiltwyck Bowling League will hold their third annual post-season banquet together again this year. These loops have joined together for their annual banquet since the origin of the circuits.

The date has been set for Monday evening, May 18, at 7 o'clock at Bill Fitzpatrick's Barn. One of the largest bowling turnouts is anticipated for the annual function.

Last year this affair attracted 225 bowlers and their friends. In 1940 the Booster and Independent Leagues combined held the largest banquet in local bowling history when 354 persons were served at The Barn. This year another huge gathering is expected to be on hand to draw the curtain on the 1941-42 bowling season.

Bill Scully, secretary of both the Booster and Wiltwyck Leagues, has announced that the program at this year's banquet will follow along the same lines as in previous years. There will be a few short speeches, awarding of prizes and three acts of vaudeville. Johnny Michaels and his Barn orchestra will furnish the music for dancing.

This band recently completed a tour of the U. S. O. Army camps. An A. B. C. gold medal will be awarded to the bowler of each league who rolled the highest individual single game of his league during the season. Aside from these two awards the Booster League will distribute $494.20 to its bowlers and the Wiltwyck League will award $485.04.

The Booster League, composed of 126 men and 16 teams, is piloted by the following officers: Eltinge Auchmoody, president; Bob

Cooperation to Be Help to Farmers' Machine Shortage

Cooperation—both formal and informal—will be one of the American farmer's best weapons to combat the impending severe shortage of farm equipment, Donald Hammond, Farm Security Administration Supervisor for Sullivan and Ulster counties, said today.

Organization of cooperatives in these counties is expected to rise sharply, Mr. Hammond said, as farmers come to realize the economy of sharing both the cost and use of equipment. High-priced equipment has always been a double-edged sword hanging over the small farmer, he pointed out, since owning it is too expensive on a per-acre basis for him to retire the cost, and being without the equipment prevents low-cost production.

Co-op machinery repair shops are being considered here, he said, and also pools of farm repair parts and used equipment. Custom farming—the renting of equipment and services by one farmer to his neighbors—is another development which shows a national increase and the trend is likely to be duplicated here, Mr. Hammond said.

More than 20,000 co-op enterprises formed with F. S. A.'s advice and financial aid are now in existence the country over, he said, and Washington authorities have predicted a tenfold increase before the end of the war.

"If the war helps develop the co-op habit," Mr. Hammond said, "it may prove to be one of the biggest breaks American agriculture ever has had." He urged that farmers of this area explore the possibilities of patriotic sharing of machinery, and "help themselves and Uncle Sam at the same time."

Shriners' Spring Ceremonial Slated

Event to Be Held Saturday at Albany Temple

The Shriners of this vicinity will hold a big spring meeting and ceremonial in Albany Saturday afternoon and evening at which time a large class of candidates will be initiated.

The business meeting and initiation of candidates will start at 4 o'clock in the Masonic Temple followed by a full course dinner free to all Shriners at the Ten Eyck Hotel from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock and then the second session will be held at Odd Fellows' Temple starting at 7:30 o'clock after which a big-time floor show will be presented by professional talent.

Many Shriners are expected to attend from this area as this will be the first ceremonial under leadership of the new potentate, Augustus Miller of Albany.

Lifeboats were launched in Britain 71 times in January to vessels in distress, and rescued 211 lives.

Shellack Another Item Now Scarce

Phonograph Records Hit Hardest by Shortage

From now on we'll be able to make only 30 per cent as many new phonograph records as formerly. Phonograph records and the big black platters used for radio transcriptions have been using up approximately a third of the nation's supply of shellac. Because almost all this shellac has come to us from India, and Japanese warships now stand athwart Indian sea lanes, W. P. B. issued its recent order saving most of the shellac we have for military purposes.

Military needs for shellac are many and direct. That ten-inch dance band recording that won't be made this year would have used up the amount—two ounces—that goes into the making of a single military signal flare, the sort of flare which blazed a hurry call for artillery support from the blackness above Bataan.

Some three ounces of shellac are required to make a big twelve inch phonograph disc—enough to have waterproofed the primer cups on almost 50,000 (49,998) .30 cal. army cartridges.

Shellac binds the abrasives used on the grinding wheels of our war industry, goes into the making of our military explosives and pyrotechnics. Shellac makes a protective coating for shells against the day when they whistle toward enemy lines, shellac coats the wooden patterns for metal castings, which become weapons. Shellac may be used to preserve the hulls of torpedo craft and other vessels of war.
